

WHAT'S
stem
GOT TO DO WITH IT?

Although small, the insects flying all around you have an important job — pollination. By moving pollen from one plant to another, these tiny workers are ensuring that our wildlife have abundant food and a healthy environment. Nebraska Game & Parks Commission biologists work to guarantee your public lands are prime pollinator habitat by planting native plants including wildflowers and grasses.

Science at work to support sustainable habitats.

Want to learn more about science, technology, engineering and math at the State Fair?

Go to www.statefair.org/fair/thingstodo

