

WHAT'S
stem
GOT TO DO WITH IT?

Have you heard the buzz about bees?
Entomology is the study of insects and is a branch of biology.

Entomologists—scientists who study insects—have discovered that a single honeybee can fly 15 miles per hour, but that it takes a hive of bees flying over 55,000 miles to bring you one pound of honey.

That is a lot of air
time—and a lot of time watching bees!
